A BIG BOMB PLOT.

An Alleged Scheme to Blow Up Washington,

There.

A Canadian Anarchist Planned to Destroy the Capital.

WASHINGTON, June 18 .- An anarchist plot to blow up the public buildings in Washington has been discovered by the district police.

The leader of the anarchists is H. J. Jaxon, a half-breed French Canadian who has for years been closely identified with the Chicago Anarchists, and whose office has been located in the Times building in that

For weeks past a house at 1921 Vermont avenue in this city, where the secret meetings of the anarchists have been held, has been watched by the police and a man named De Masters, known both as doctor and professor, and an ex-Episcopalian minister, has attended the meetings and is the informant.

The formula from which the explosives were to be made has been obtained, the compound made and tested. It is the latest hellish device of the anarchists and explodes from the heat of the sun, throwing out a deadly poisonous vapor. No arrests have been made and the police refuse to reveal their full information and have sought to keep the story from the papers. Knowledge of the plot became, however, too generally known to prevent a leak.

Sergeant-at-Arms Bright of the senate was the first to receive any information. The vice-president was then informed; also the night watch at the capitol, and the speaker of the house. Secretary Carlisle was told of a plot against the treasury department, and the president was also informed of the situation. With the police working steadily on the case for weeks past, not enough information has been obtained upon which certainty of conviction could be assured, and for this reason arrests have been postponed day after day.

Jaxon's presence in the city was hinted at in the telegraphic dispatches before the arrival of Coxey. He came here before the commonweal army, and rode over the route which Coxey would follow.

The information which De Masters brought was that Jaxon had expected to find no difficulty in organizing a strong association of Anarchists here, and that it was also expected that Anarchists would flock in here from all directions with the commonwealers. Jaxon was disappointed in finding the local Anarchists, but on the day of the commonweal parade reds came from New York, Philadelphia and Chicago, and a meeting was held. Mayor Stewart of Philadelphia. A hint of this meeting was given the police at the time, but the suspects departed and the fear temporarily subsided.

Shortly after this Sergeant-at-Arms Bright received a letter which was of such an earnest nature warning him of a plot to blow up the Capitol and other public buildings that he deeided to investigate. It was one of hundreds of letters that he had received, but the earnestness manifested by the writer caused him to make an investigation. He consulted with Major Moore, superintendent of the District police, and the author of the letter was met per agreement, and proved to be an ex-preacher, De Masters, who had been taken in by the anarchists. De Masters was put under pay, and instructed to attend all the meetings. He did so, and made reports to the chief of police.

Word was finally brought that with the arrival of Frye's army, now in the Cumberland valley, there would be an influx of Anarchists and that the time for putting the plans into execution would then be ripe. It was decided to wait until then before making any arrests, and in the meanwhile Jaxon and his followers have obtained information that they were being watched.

Even with the knowledge that the facts were to be published, the police last night refused to give out the information in their possession as to the extent of the plot, or the names of the men who were associated with Jaxon. It is settled that eight men met regularly at 1921 Vermont avenue, but whether this comprised all those in the plot could not be learned. Jaxon will be remembered as chief lieutenant to Louis Reil in the half-breed Canadian rebellion.

Scoring Rosebery.

LONDON, June 1s. - Dr. Percival, master of Rugby, preached in Westminister Abbay last night, taking as his text, "Am I my brother's keeper?" In the course of his sermon he referred to Lord Rosebery and horse racing, and said the whole world appeared to have taken Cain's words as a motto. When an English nobleman patronized the turf, with its weedy growth of dishonests and degradation, simply to gratify a feeling for excitement and did not use an effort nor stirred a finger to reform it, he came under the same condemnation.

A Chicago Regiment Ordered to Mount Olive, Ill.

PRISONERS RELEASED.

Men are Determined to Prevent Trains Moving.

CHICAGO, June 17 .- At a late hour last evening, General Wheeler, commanding the first brigade, Illinois national guard, received orders from the adjutant general to send the Seventh regiment, Colonel Colby commanding, to Mount Olive at once to aid the local authorities in preserving peace. The strikers have been acting in a riotous manner at Mount Olive for a week past, preventing the movement of trains containing coal laden cars, and committing other lawless acts. Saturday night a party of United States deputy marshals went to Mount Olive from Springfield and arrested several of the leaders of the men who had been instrumental in stopping traffic on the road in the hands of the federal court.

Nearly a thousand strikers and sympathizers gathered, however, and such threatening demonstrations that the deputies released the men and returned to Springfield. The sheriff reported to the governor that he was unable to cope with the mob without additional aid, and although there has been no serious rioting as yet, it was deemed best to take precautionary mea-ures.

CONDITION OF FRUIT.

Peaches Will Practically Be & Failure-

Apples Promising.
Washington, June 18.—The report of the statistician of the department of agriculture for June says that a glance at the per centages of condition of peaches on June 1 is sufficient to show how disastrous the season has been thus far. The returns at this date relate prineipally to bloom in the more northern districts, and where conditions are high it would be too early to form an opinion as to crop results. As fruit does not recover from a low condition early in its history, as other products do, it is safe to construe the extremely low figures into a practical failure of the crop. The condition of apples is somewhat better than that of peaches.

Saturday night we shall be on the fag end of the bill."

Both declined to state whether there had been any negotiations for an agreement as to the time for the final vote between the leaders on the respective sides of the chamber. "FLY BY NIGHT."

Joe Jefferson Gives an Amusing Story of Its Origin.

I presume that most people who visit the theater have heard the term "fly by night" applied to minor and unstable theatrical companies, but I believe there are very few, if any, who understand the meaning of the term, and among even the present genera-tion of actors there is probably none who knows how the term originated.

It was in the days when old Sol Smith, dead and gone these many years, had a strolling company which played in only the smallest and queerest of all the small queer towns in the south and west. Smith and his company were playing a varied repertory, as every company had to do at that time, of which "Macbeth," with all of Locke's original music, was a prominent feature. But the public proved unappre-ciative, and the times were hard. Soon old Sol and his company were at low water mark, and at length found themselves stranded in a little Kentucky town, from which a flinty hearted landlord refused to permit them to remove their baggage until they had liquidated his claim against them

Smith felt that he was equal to the emergency, having "been there" often before, and he cast about in his mind for some means of deliverance. At length he hit upon a plan. He engaged a countryman to bring a strong wagen, drawn by a pair of sturdy horses, under the window of his room at the back of the tavern at a certain hour on the following night. The members of the company were let into the secret, and it was arranged that on the night in question they should throw the landlord off his guard by assembling in the parlor and practicing one of the witches' choruses and practicing one of the witches choruses composed by Locke for "Macbeth" and en-titled "We Fly by Night," in which those words are repeated over and over again. Meanwhile old Sol and his most trusty henchman were to lower the trunks from the window to the countryman, who was waiting below to receive them.

This programme was carried out to the letter. The company was singing "We Fly by Night" for dear life in the parlor, while Smith and his man Friday were letting down the trunks with as much celerity and quietness as possible, but, alas! not, as they fondly thought, into the hands of the countryman who was to convey them to a place of safety, but into those of the landlord, who had somehow or other got wind

At length the work was completed. Old Sol and his companion, with a great load lifted from their minds, joined the company in the parlor and united with them in singing "We Fly by Night." But just as they had sung those words for the third time the door opened, and the landlord, entering, said, with a winning smile, "Excuse me, ladies and gentlemen, but you won't fly this night, for I still have possession of your trunks."

From that to the present all queer dra-matic and musical companies have been known as "fly by nights."-Joseph Jefferson in New York Herald.
